

For Judicious Funds Management, Varsities Should Learn From BUK - Gen T. Y. Danjuma

Former Minister of Defense, General Theophilus Yakubu Danjuma has admonished other universities in the country to come to Bayero University and learn how to manage funds in the execution of projects. He disclosed this while commissioning the 252 million naira ultra-modern Faculty of Computer Science and Information Technology Complex, Bayero University, on Wednesday 5th November, 2014 which was solely constructed and donated by him in the university.

General Danjuma said he was surprised to see that the funds he released were enough to construct such a giant multimillion naira faculty, an indication of the judicious use of funds by the management of the university.

“I want to tell you that non-judicious application of funds in the execution of projects is the common and biggest problem being experienced in Nigeria, but I am surprised that the money expended by me was enough to fund this gigantic project which was completed in just nine month. My desire to fund the project was motivated by the fact that the University Management came up with the straightforward estimate and plan for the project”, the former defense minister revealed.

He also accepted the idea of establishing an ICT Park by the university, promising that he would join in funding the project and urged the management to involve the government, especially Kano state government as well as the business community in the establishment of the Park.

The philanthropist said the idea of an ICT Park is excellent as he visited some in India and there was the need to pursue such an idea vigorously and translate it into practice in Bayero University.

General Danjuma, who went round the Complex made up of 55 offices, seven large rooms used as conference halls, laboratories and classes, said he was very thankful to the university for giving him the opportunity to fund the project, emphasizing that it is necessary to take government officials round existing ICT parks in some countries to see how they are and what they do. This, he said, would be enough for them to help the university in such an investment.

The Pro-Chancellor, Alhaji Mahmud Yayale Ahmed, who described the former General as ‘our mentor and exemplary leader’ said he searched and found that he was the only living Nigerian northerner of his contemporaries projecting the image of Nigeria, projecting the values of the north in terms of being generous, accepting responsibilities and accommodating people irrespective of differences in religion, ethnic and locations.

Alhaji Yayale Ahmed said “with you alive there is hope for this country, all we want is for you to appeal to your colleagues and boys, call them to order, so that we won’t lose hope, we appreciate what you do, we want them also to be doing what you do”.

The Vice Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed mni, MFR described General Danjuma as an extra-ordinary Nigerian, an achiever and benefactor of Bayero University, saying that the general is a rare personality who fulfils promises and stands by what he means. He said Bayero University will stand to testify that in January 2013 he promised to build a befitting Faculty of Computer Science and Information Technology and in 21st February same year he released the entire sum of 252million naira for the project.

Professor Rasheed thanked the contractor, Amal Engineering Company for mobilizing and completing the project in nine month, saying it was the first project in Bayero University to be completed within its time-frame. He expressed gratitude to General Danjuma and all those who have been supporting the university.

The Deputy Vice Chancellor (Academics), Professor Hafiz Abubakar said the project executed under one year by General Danjuma could have taken ten years if funded by others, that is why the two-year old faculty is thinking of establishing an ICT Park and Research Centers.

Dean of the faculty, Dr. Bashir Shehu Galadanci said the faculty has three departments and four programs, saying many academic staff are on study abroad as part of the measures to ensure full utilization of the facilities provided and commissioned by the former Defense Minister.

Dr. Galadanci said the mission of the faculty is to be the leading Centre of Excellence in IT profession and leadership in the country with the adequate infrastructure on ground. He said the faculty would soon open new programmes that would assist the economic sector more especially as they are committed to extending frontiers of research in IT.

Shower of Encomiums as Prof. Duze Retires

Vice Chancellor of Bayero University, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed has described retiring Professor Mustapha Duze of Sociology Department as one of the pillars of BUK’s development.

Professor Rasheed spoke through the Deputy Vice Chancellor (Academics), Professor Hafiz Abubakar at a send-forth in honour of retiring Professor Mustapha Duze on Thursday 30th October, 2014 at the Senate Chamber.

Professor Duze, according to the Vice Chancellor could be likened to a ‘candido’ who gave his best and also worked tirelessly behind the scene for the many success stories of BUK. stopped. We wish him well and Allah's guidance wherever he finds himself.”

He said the send forth was organized personally by him to honour a pillar in the university, adding that ‘I know this send forth will not be enough to compensate you for your many contributions towards the development of the university. It is just meant to say thank you and may Allah reward you for the over three decades of contributions to this university’. He also wished the retiring Professor success in his future endeavour.

Also speaking, the former Vice-Chancellor of Bayero University, Professor Sani Zahraadeen said Professor Duze has been a bridge builder, a detribalized Nigerian and an erudite scholar whose contributions to teaching and research in BUK remained unequalled.

He wondered why Professor Duze is retiring after about 37 years in service, because according to him ‘I served for over 40 years and ‘am still serving. I believe experience counts a lot in academics. You are definitely going to leave a vacuum that will be difficult to fill’, he remarked. He however, wished him Allah's guidance in future endeavours.

In their separate comments, three of Professor Duze's bosom friends, Prof. Essiet Essiet, Prof. J.D Falola and Prof. E. A. Olofin said one unique thing about Prof. Duze was that he is humble, tolerant, peace loving, a time manager and accommodating; and wished he never retired.

The Dean of Faculty of Social and Management Science, Professor Bashir Tijjani said the exit of Professor Duze from the Sociology Department has created a serious vacuum such that no specialist in his area of calling at the moment could take over from him.

“It is now a great challenge for those of us he trained to endeavour to build from where he

Last to comment on the celebrant was Professor Mustapha Isa who succeeded him as Director Academic Planning. He said one remarkable feature of Prof. Duze was that ‘he respects time; his 10 am has always been 10am’. He does not know anything like African Time’. “We shall miss his wealth of experience”, he stated.

Responding, the celebrant, Professor Mustapha Duze was short of words to express how happy he was for the great honour done to him.

He thanked BUK management under the leadership of Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed for their support and understanding and assured them that though he has retired from service he was not tired and was ready to always assist and support the university.

Professor Duze thanked all his colleagues and said he had taken note of all the comments made about him.

We Maintain Manageable Population to Uphold Academic Standard

- Prof. Rasheed

Bayero University maintains a student population of 30,000, as a deliberate policy not to allow increase in population that will compromise high academic standard which it has been known for.

This was disclosed by the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, mni, MFR when he received an Accreditation Panel from the National Universities Commission (NUC) in his office on Monday 3rd November, 2014.

He said, “We refuse to be carried away by the on-going infrastructural development to unnecessarily increase our student population. What we however, do and will continue to do with the support of NUC is to introduce new programmes and expand the existing ones to make us in tune with international standards,” he remarked.

Professor Rasheed took time to explain to the panel how BUK had shifted emphasis from humanities to Engineering, Medicine, Agriculture and Computer Science, saying that because of ‘our seriousness in sciences we recently established a College of Health Sciences with about five faculties; We introduced the Faculty of Earth and Environmental Sciences and competed and won a World Bank grant of over 8 million dollars to establish a Centre of Excellence in Dry Land Agriculture. “The Center for Dry Land Agriculture which won the grant was just established in 2012,” he said.

He said already the Centre had admitted about seven foreign PhD students from African countries to study Dry Land Agriculture.

The Vice Chancellor assured the accreditation panel of the support and cooperation of the university, saying “we in BUK have always welcomed accreditation exercise, because we believe it is a sincere initiative by the NUC to put universities on their toes and ensure that academic standards are not in any way compromised.”

Earlier, the team leader, Dr. Adeoye Afolabi told the Vice-Chancellor that they were in BUK to look at two programmes, Accountancy and Business Administration in the Faculty of Social and Management Science which he said was part of efforts of the NUC under Professor Julius Okoji to ensure that standards were never compromised for whatever reason.

Regular Exercise Reduces Risk of Breast Cancer – Dr. Zainab

Sufficient and regular exercise reduces high risk of breast cancer among males and females, Dr.

Zainab Mustapha, a Consultant Radiologist, has said.

Speaking at a one-day sensitization lecture on Breast Cancer and Awareness Campaign, held at the Lecture Theatre of Faculty of Dentistry, Aminu Kano Teaching Hospital (AKTH) on Thursday, 30th October, 2014, Dr. Mustapha explained that regular exercise, active lifestyle, increased parity and breast feeding were among the changeable risk factors of breast cancer. These factors she said could be influenced with serious effort.

She said obesity and use of hormonal replacement therapy increase the risk of breast cancer.

Dr. Mustapha, who is a senior lecturer in the Radiology Department, identified sex, age, race, family history, genetic predisposition and personal history of breast diseases as unchangeable risk factors that could not in any way be changed or influenced in contracting the cancer.

The Consultant Radiologist argued that even though male breast cancer is uncommon, however, prognosis is worse for female breast cancer because it is influenced by many factors.

The lecturer stated that research has shown that breast cancer is the commonest cancer among Nigerian women, in that 1 out of 25 women will develop breast cancer in their lifetime and one million new cases are expected in Africa by 2020, 50% will be from Nigeria and Africans get the disease 10 years younger than their counterparts in US and UK.

She said high mortality in Africa was due to lack of public awareness, late presentation and diagnosis and more aggressive tumor occurring in Africans.

According to her, “the symptoms of breast cancer are: painless breast lump, painful breast limp, nipple discharge (any color), nipple retraction, skin changes and decrease in breast size.”

Dr. Mustapha said for breast cancer mortality to be reduced in Nigeria, women from the age 40 and above should be encouraged to annual screening mammography and that Clinical Breast Exam (CBE) is extremely vital to reducing death and suffering from the cancer.

She said there should be sustained and increased efforts to produce high quality screening mammography, diagnosis and treatment to all.

The consultant advised that government must be encouraged to subsidize breast cancer treatment management.

BUK Targets 90 Percent PhD Holders in 5 Years -VC

Vice Chancellor of Bayero University, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed mni, MFR has assured that the university is doing its best to ensure compliance with the NUC and university systems, saying that the university has targeted to have about 90 percent of its academic staff as PhD holders within the next five years.

Professor Rasheed, who was speaking while receiving a second NUC accreditation team for the Faculty of Social and Management Sciences (SMS) under the chairmanship of Professor Austen Asagba, said Bayero University is making headway in its 15 faculties and it runs courses which include Medicine, Physical and Natural Sciences, Engineering which had ten different programs and a host of others.

He said the university had doubled its faculties and reduced undergraduate students' intake in preference to Postgraduate students, saying further that very soon all classes will be decongested so that only about 40 students will take lecture in a class.

The Vice Chancellor said Nigerian universities are doing their best to ensure credibility in the degrees they awarded, that's why whoever graduated and went abroad for Postgraduate program would come back with a good degree.

He said “Nigerian universities are academically good; our graduates go to other universities everywhere in the world. We in Bayero University are doing a lot in the area of training and improvement of our facilities. We invite people to help us build structures because we realize that government alone could not shoulder the responsibility”.

Earlier, Chairman of the accreditation committee, Professor Austen Asagba said that they were in Bayero University for the accreditation of five programmes in the Faculty of Social and Management Sciences.

Make it Compulsory for Students to Attend Public Lecture Series - Pro-Chancellor, Dr. Yayale

Bayero University should consider the possibility of making it compulsory for all students to attend every public lecture as part of efforts to enrich and broaden their knowledge outside their spheres of study.

Pro-Chancellor and Chairman of Governing Council of Bayero University, Dr. Mahmud Yayale Ahmed gave the suggestion at a Public Lecture on the topic “The National Conference 2014: Matters Arising” on Thursday 6th November, 2014 at Musa Abdullahi Auditorium.

He said in the past attendance of lecture series organized by the university used to be compulsory for all students and wondered why the tradition has changed to make it optional. “I believe it should not be so, because if you make it optional students being what they are will not attend. It is my belief that lecture series has the tendency to enrich and broaden the knowledge of students irrespective of what they are studying and as such it should be compulsory for all', he remarked.

Dr. Mahmud Yayale who was also the chairman of the occasion thanked the management of BUK for choosing the topic of the lecture which he said would be useful to all especially students who are the leaders of tomorrow and called on them to listen attentively and also contribute in the discussion.

He also said the choice of Professor Auwalu Hamisu Yadudu, an erudite scholar and one who saw it all during the National Conference to present the lecture was appropriate as according to him Professor Yadudu would do justice to the topic.

Earlier, in his welcome address, the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, mni, MFR thanked the Chairman of the Governing Council, Dr. Yayale Ahmed for personally attending and chairing the lecture which he said gave them encouragement to do more in that direction.

He said BUK deliberately chose the topic "The National Conference 2014: Matters Arising" for discussion in this month's lecture series, because according to him 'it is pertinent to discuss the lessons learnt from it, if Nigeria is to be saved.'

Professor Rasheed thanked Professor Yadudu for agreeing to deliver the lecture. He equally thanked Professor Andrew Haruna, Dr. Hakeem Baba-Ahmed and Ishaq Modibbo Kawu for accepting to discuss the paper.
