

Review of University Curricula Coming - NUC Exec. Secretary

The Nigerian University System and its regulatory agency, the National Universities Commission (NUC) should be prepared for a comprehensive review of University Curricula in order to make Nigeria relevant in the global knowledge driven economy and for the benefit of the nation, Executive Secretary of the NUC, Professor Abubakar Adamu Rasheed has said.

He was speaking in an interactive session when a delegation of the Bayero University Management, led by the Vice Chancellor, Prof. Muhammad Yahuza Bello and the Vice Chancellor of North West University (NWU), Prof. Mustapha Ahmad Isa, went to felicitate with him on his appointment.

Prof. Rasheed said he accepted the national assignment knowing that many things must change and some things must be done differently to make Nigerian Universities competitive internationally and raise their ranking significantly too with the assistance of all stakeholders in the system in the long run.

Responding to other questions, he also promised to engage state governments in a dialogue to find a way out of the underfunding crisis in some states with more than one University, as well as reach out to relevant stakeholders to sort out the issue of multiple accreditation of University programmes by professional bodies and the NUC.

Earlier, both Prof. Bello of BUK and Prof. Isa of NWU had prayed that Prof Rasheed's style of management of team work, thinking outside the box, innovativeness, generosity and "business unusual" would be deployed not just to transform the NUC but the Nigerian University system for the upliftment of the nation.

Dons Advocate Quality life for People Living with Disability

The Department of Physiotherapy, Bayero University has organized a three-day disability conference aimed at providing a forum where researchers and other stakeholders could brainstorm on ways of harmonizing research policy and implementation for the purpose of improving the quality of the life of people with disability.

The conference themed "the Promotion of the Quality of the Life of People Living with Disability: Research Policy and Implementation," was held from 23rd to 25th August, 2016 at the Musa Abdullahi Auditorium.

The first guest speaker, Dr. Ganiyu Sokunbi, of the Department of the Physiotherapy, Bayero University, who spoke on "the Promotion of the Quality of the Life of People Living with Disability," said "there is a need for public enlightenment on disability; people should be educated on what disability is all about, there should be an increase in access to education and training for people living with disability in order for them to be equipped with facilities that will enable them to participate in day to day activities.”

Dr. Ganiyu said provision of special amenities to the people living with disability in educational system was necessary, adding that local research centers should focus on researches that would provide services for the people living with disability.

He urged the researchers to carry along people living with disability in their researches in order to achieve what they wanted and be provided with resourceful information to better their lives.

Another speaker, Dr. Sanusi Abubakar of the Department of Community Medicine, Bayero University, in his paper titled “the Promotion of the Quality of the Life of People Living with Disability; Research Policy and Implementation of Land Policy in Nigeria” called for the provision of law that would empower the people living with disability, as well as its implementation.

He explored stakeholders to come together to conduct researches aimed at uplifting the lives of people living with disability. Such collaboration among professionals, government agencies, NGO’s and leaders of people living with disability, he said was necessary.

Speaking at the conference, the former special adviser to the former Governor of Kano state, Mallam Ibrahim Shekarau, on disabled people and a lecturer at the Special Education Department, Dr. Jibrin Isa Diso, urged Kano state government to appoint a full-fledged special adviser to represent people living with disability, adding that people should stop stigmatizing the disabled people and accept them fully in the society.

Dr. Diso thanked Bayero University management and Vice Chancellor in participating for assisting him and providing him with the necessary materials that aided him in his lecturing.

Some papers presented during the conference included a joint paper presented by Fatima B. Grema, titled “the Casual Status of Insurgency Survivors Living With Disabilities in an Internally Displaced Persons Camp In North Eastern, Nigeria,” “the Promotion of the Quality of the Life of People With Disability: Research Policy and Implementation,” presented by Dr. Hassana Sani Darma, “Uncorrected refractive error: A major cause of visual disability,” by Dr. Rahma M. Inauguration: SSANU Chairman Challenges Advisory Committee Members

The Chairman, Senior Staff Association of Nigerian Universities (SSANU), Bayero University chapter, Malam Haruna Aliyu, has challenged the newly constituted Advisory Committee of the union to come up with the viable ideas that would move the association forward.

Malam Haruna Aliyu, who was speaking on Wednesday 24th August, 2016 while inaugurating the Advisory Committee at the SSANU Secretariat in Old Campus, said members of the Advisory Committee had a greater task to contribute to the transformation of the union more, especially because of the greater expectations the union members had on the leadership.

He expressed surprise that, while in some universities, the union had recorded esteemed development to the extent that very senior officers were having keen interest in vying for its leadership, in Bayero University because not much had been achieved those officers were being sceptical in contributing to the development of the union.

The Committee members he said should study the terms of reference and to even go beyond to advising the union leadership, adding that the union expected much from them. He said many goodies were coming, including the renovation of the union secretariat slated to commence next week, just as both the University management and the union leaders are making headway in ensuring that what was due for the union members is provided.

Responding, Chairman of the Committee, Alhaji Inuwa Yahaya Kofar-Mata, congratulated leaders of the union for their victory during the election, adding that Bayero University had played a critical role in the formation of SSANU at the national level and as such the committee would not relent to ensure that all is done to make the union great.

Alhaji Inuwa Kofar-Mata rated the union leaders high and expressed hope that with their calibre Bayero University chapter of SSANU would achieve a lot in the next few years.

He said “we were selected not because we are better than many others but out of the respect you have for us and as such you would not be disappointed, we would do our best to assist you to achieve the desired goal.”

Other members of the Advisory Committee are Arc Abdulmalik Dikko, Mustapha Gide, Dr. Ifeanyi B. Ahara, Sani Nayaya Chedi, Rabi’u Sagagi, Mrs. Ogbuagu Caroline Ogadinma and Kabiru Abdullahi who would serve as Secretary.

Train Staff in Globally Ranked Universities and Be Ranked Too – ES TETFund

Nigerian Universities should think about stopping the training of its staff in foreign Universities that are at the bottom of Global Ranking of Universities and in countries below its ranking, if they want to see their rating rise dramatically, the Executive Secretary (ES) of Tertiary Education Trust Fund (TETFund), Dr. Abdullahi B. Baffa, has said. This implication is that training in ranked institutions would assist in getting Nigerian Universities into the global ranking.

Responding warmly to messages of goodwill and congratulations delivered by delegation of the Bayero University Management, led by the Vice Chancellor, Prof. Muhammad Yahuza Bello and the Vice Chancellor of North West University (NWU), Prof. Mustapha Ahmad Isa, on his appointment, the ES said President Muhammadu Buhari is very concerned about the low global ranking of the Universities and has tasked him to look into it.

The TETFund Chief Executive added that in time the fund would want to see serious training of academic staff on writing research proposals and budgeting to be able to attract globally competitive funds for research. The publication of such research would add to the rise in global ranking of the Universities concerned, he added.

Dr. Baffa added that the TETFund would consult with stake holders to focus on building on achieving even greater heights in the focus areas of the intervention agencies. Speaking in an emotion-laden voice, he also expressed his joy at the solidarity visit and promised to continue to courageously confront difficult situations and to live by the qualities he is known for.

Earlier in his address, the Vice Chancellor, Prof. Bello commended the ES for his huge capacity for work, determination and resourcefulness, describing him as a living embodiment of the maxim that “hardwork does not kill”. He praised Dr. Baffa for the tremendous training he gave his staff who were able not just to develop the myBUK portal engine but even after he left, the team was able to smoothly align the software when the directive on TSA was implemented. The NWU Vice Chancellor, Prof. Isa also delivered his felicitation on behalf of the Governing Council, Management and staff.

BUK Staff Get Federal Posts for Honesty and Hardwork - Prof Abba Haladu

Professor Abba Haladu, Executive Secretary of the Mass Literacy, Adult and Non-formal Education Commission has identified honesty, hardwork and the diligent discharge of official responsibility with fear of God, as the secret trait that has resulted in some Bayero University staff been recently appointed to head some federal agencies. He was speaking when a delegation of BUK Management and the North West University paid him a congratulatory visit on his appointment.

He disclosed that the Minister of Education, Malam Adamu Adamu has taken a special interest in the success of the agency because reducing the level of illiteracy and ignorance in the populace is key to solving many socio-economic problems considered important by government. The Mass Education Agency Boss promised to use the maxim of “each one, teach one” and “each one, fund the teaching of one” for those not able to directly volunteer to the mass literacy drive they will implement.

In response to suggestions made, he promised to revive the vast Kano Centre of the agency and to run certificate and diploma programmes in Adult Education, the product of which would enroll in the School of Continuing Education (SCE) of BUK. He also expressed appreciation for the solidarity visit.

Earlier, the two Vice Chancellors of BUK, Prof. Muhammad Yahuza Bello and the NWU, Prof. Mustapha Ahmad Isa had praised him for an illustrious academic career, rising through the ranks and serving as pioneer Dean in the Faculty of Education, Jigawa State University, Kafin Hausa and prayed for success in his new assignment.

The Rector of Kano State Polytechnic, Professor Mukhtar Atiku Kurawa, has solicited the assistance of the Management of Bayero University in tackling some of the problems he inherited in the institution.

Professor Kurawa, who was speaking during a visit to the Vice Chancellor, Professor Muhammad Yahuza Bello, on Friday 19th August, 2016 in his office said, however, from the time he assumed office on 4th April, 2016, many problems had been solved.

He said, "Kano Polytechnic always makes reference to Bayero University, BUK as a role model. No nearby institution can do away without BUK; many positive aspects in terms of teaching, research and even examiners came from the university."

This came about on 10th August, 2016 when the interim executive members of the SAMAHA Cooperative Society Bayero University, Kano had a special meeting with the representatives of the University unions, ASUU, SSANU, NAAT and NASU.

The Director, IIIBF who also doubles as the interim Chairperson of the SAMAHA, Professor Binta Tijjani Jibril, described SAMAHA as a platform for the practical application of Islamic finance, which encouraged savings and investment among the members of the University community.

She mentioned that poverty was endemic in our society because Muslims had failed to avail themselves with the fruits of Islamic finance and maintained that SAMAHA was like any other cooperative societies, the only difference being that it would be operated within the context of Islamic Shari’ah, such that all its transactions and values would be in compliance with the Sharia’ah.

A report prepared by Mustapha Aminu, the Administrative Officer, IIIBF, urged all those who collected forms to complete and return them to IIIBF or Nasiha stores on or before 3rd September, 2016 to enable the society to include them in the list to be submitted to the Bursary for deductions. GENERAL CIRCULAR: Appointment of Contract, Sabbatical & Visiting Staff

The University has been facing serious challenges with respect to the payment of salaries and allowances since December 2015. The challenges arise from the grossly inadequate provision for, and release of, funds for personnel costs from Abuja.

In view of these challenges, the Management has decided as follows until the situation improves:

- a) All fresh appointments either regular or contract have been suspended.
- b) Appointments and renewals of the appointment of retired staff on contract have been suspended.

- c) Sabbatical appointments of staff members from other universities to the University have been put on hold.
- d) There will be no appointments or renewals for visiting and part-time staff members.

Exemption will only be given in very exceptional cases (such as for new programmes/departments with inadequate full-time staff members).

In a circular dated 12th July, 2016, the Registrar, Fatima Binta Mohammed, advised all the affected staff members to take note accordingly.

Miscellaneous Problems in English Usage (3)

With Sheriff Ahmed

- He said “none of the appointees had filed any application...”

He said “all members of Bayero University community should be thankful to God...”

There is a problem of punctuation in the two quoted sentences above. The two sentences are good examples of direct speech (also called direct discourse, especially in North American English – the repeating of speech giving the exact words that were spoken, in writing conventionally inside quotation marks). The two sentences are not properly punctuated as they should.

Correct: He said, “None of the appointees had filed any application.”

Correct: He said, “All members of Bayero University community should be thankful to God.”

Note the comma after ‘said’ and the capital letters N (in ‘None’) and A (in ‘All’).

- “I would appreciate if you tell her the truth.”

There are two fundamental grammatical errors in this sentence. First of all, it should be noted that appreciate, as used in this context, is a transitive verb; it requires a direct object (which is missing). Some verbs require direct object, while others do not. Verbs that require direct object are called transitive verbs; those that do not require direct objects are called intransitive verbs. Study the following sentences:

- Habu killed a snake.*
- I wrote the letter.*
- The man died.*
- Jesus wept.*

In sentences (a) and (b) the direct objects are ‘snake’ and ‘letter’, respectively. This means that the verbs ‘killed’ and ‘wrote’ are transitive verbs. In sentences (c) and (d) there are no direct objects. It means that the verbs ‘died’ and ‘wept’ are intransitive verbs.

From this exposition you will realize that a transitive verb (such as ‘appreciate’) must have a direct object, as it is used in the context above.

Correct: I appreciated the offer. (‘offer’ is the direct object)

Correct: I’ll appreciate it if you come. (‘it’ is the direct object)

Correct: Thanks for coming; we appreciate your support. (‘support’ is the direct object)
