BUK Matriculates 8,090 Students

By Rabi'u M. Sagir

New students at the matriculation ceremony

Bayero University, Kano has matriculated eight thousand and ninety students who were given admission into the University for the current 2018/2019 academic session.

Speaking at the matriculation ceremony on Thursday, 18th April, 2019, at the Convocation arena, the Vice Chancellor, Professor Muhammad Yahuza Bello, urged the students to abide by the rules and regulations of the University as contained in four (4) documents, which were General Examinations and Academic Regulation covering rules regarding our academic pursuit, Student's Handbook, the Code of Ethics and the BUK Dress Code.

Professor Bello, represented by Deputy Vice Chancellor (Administration), Professor Haruna Wakili, said the University had SEVICOM Unit with powers to coordinate and monitor the implementation of a general service charter to ensure quality service delivery to our customers, who were mainly students, to enlighten them of their rights to good services and putting in place mechanisms for addressing complaints and grievances in case of service failure as well as possible redress to customers.

Professor Bello charged the students to be of good character throughout their stay in the University and beyond. "Do not engage yourselves in activities such as examination misconduct and other forms of acts of indiscipline as the University Management takes engagements in these acts very serious and violators are sanctioned appropriately", said the Vice Chancellor.

Professor Bello charged the newly admitted students to work hard in their academic pursuits, as 63,291 candidates had Bayero University as their first choice but only 8,090 candidates were admitted. "Can you see how lucky you are", the Vice Chancellor said.

Professor Bello said many infrastructural facilities had been provided in the last seven years and more were being provided as they might have seen in the BUK campuses. The most recent facilities that had been added were female student's hall of residence at Old Campus constructed and donated by the late Sheik Isyaka Rabi'u; one Megawatt solar power plant on the Old Campus; a fourteen room public convenience for male students located near the Attahiru Jega Theatre, and a female students' rest room with 14 toilets as well as 30 seater Toyota Bus and a 54-seater Tata bus for students to ease the problem of commuting between the two main campuses.

Unemployment Rate Increases by 3.3% in Kano State Annually - Prof. Sagagi

By Rabi'u M. Sagir

The Dean of Dangote Business School, Professor Murtala Sagagi, has called on stakeholders to revive the nations' economy through job-creation; because, at present, there were four million (4,000,000) people that were jobless in Kano state. Professor Sagagi was speaking during an occasion organized and conducted by Kano Concerned Citizens Initiative (KCCI) on 20th April, 2019 at Dangote Business School.

Professor Sagagi disclosed that unemployment increased by 3.3 every year, which was a clear indication why hands must be on desk to curtail the unfortunate situation we had found ourselves in. He added that the rate at which our population grew without any plan to control it was related to the unemployment palaver we had found ourselves in, calling on our leaders to ensure that our economy went hand in hand with population growth.

At a point during the occasion, the President of KCCI, Alhaji Bashir Othman Tofa, called all stakeholders not keep quiet and watch things going on against normalcy. He said time to be quiet against corruption and societal ills had ended. Alhaji Tofa said, "We'll continue to work with all that have this state (Kano state) at their hearts in order rescue the state from the catastrophe which has befallen her". He explained that this was not feasible without us having good and effective plans in relation to job creation for the benefit of our youth and of our women.

A famous business-man, Alhaji Aliko Dangote, called on the Nigerian government to provide adequate and continuous electricity in the country. He pointed out that no country in the world would progress without steady supply of electricity.

Alhaji Dangote insisted that "even if government is not responsible for job creation, it should, at least, provide a conducive atmosphere by strengthening businessmen to recruit citizens".

Alhaji Dangote together with Alhaji Abdussamad Isyaka Rabi'u also promised to set aside a huge amount of money to be used in giving vocational training to our women and to our youth, "because if we don't do this, we'll be under a nasty threat".

On his own part, the Emir of Kano, Malam Muhammad Sanusi II, said no nation would progress without education. For this reason, according to the traditional ruler, any village that had no school should have its mosque transformed into a school.

The emir also explained that marrying so many wives and bearing children with no control was the cause of many instances of poverty and begging in Kano state and the country in general. He opined that job creation could help to remedy this societal ill.

Earlier, the Vice Chancellor, Professor Muhammad Yahuza Bello, represented by the Deputy Vice Chancellor, (Admin), Professor Haruna Wakili, said Bayero University was always ready to participate in any activity that would promote positive aspect of human endeavor as well as providing the peaceful co-existence among the citizens of the state.

The Vice Chancellor said the University Management was ready to sign MoU with any organization ready to create avenues that would effect positive changes to the current problems that our community was facing. As such, extra commitment needed to be provided to achieve the desired goal.

Centre for Critical Thinking, Teaching and Learning Nigerian Defence Academy, Kaduna, Nigeria

Conference Call

Theme: State and Security

Date: 23rd - 25th September, 2019

The Nigerian Defence Academy (NDA), Kaduna, Nigeria invites conference abstracts and panel proposals for its 2019 international conference on State and Security. The notion of national security has evolved beyond the simple idea of “freedom from foreign dictation”. State or national security while foregrounding military prowess, readiness and alertness to defend and deter external aggression is unthinkable without those socio-cultural institutions without which internal strife and dissension are but guaranteed. To guarantee national security requires individual security or safety and freedom to pursue life and liberty; political security (peaceful and orderly succession of leadership, free and fair elections, and enfranchisement), economic security (access to legitimate means of livelihood), ecological security (protection of the environment from degradation and devastation), cyber security (prevention of cyber-attacks and vulnerabilities), food security and infrastructure, ability to maintain and use own language and cultural resources, among many others. With more than half of the African population estimated to be under 25 years old and given over 70% unemployment of that demography that in other places drive innovation, it would seem as if the security of the states is under threat.

We, therefore, seek to bring together scholars and leaders alike to explore new approaches to national security to generate actionable knowledge towards assuring the security of the state writ-large.

We welcome papers that discuss national security in the context of individual liberty, prosperity and opportunity; safety of the homeland and any existential angst for the emergence of a populist leader. Approaches to the theme include but are not limited to the following themes:

Themes:

- Ethic nationalist agitations, religious insurrections and complex military operations.
- State security and liberty; terrorism and personal expression.
- Resource control and communal rights, human rights, cultural property and multi-national corporations and or international organizations.
- Language and culture, production and dissemination of knowledge, politics of cultural differences.

- Ethic nationalities and the quest for autonomy.
- The interface of religious diversity, liberty and federal character principle.
- Gender and sexuality.
- Education, research and development.
- Electoral reforms and competent leadership.
- Stable economy.
- Engineering growth for all through privatization of public enterprises.
- The Stock Market and its malcontents.
- Tracking technology, oil and gas industry and ecological insecurity.
- Entertainment/Media and National Security.

We welcome papers and panels proposal on these themes from all subject areas and disciplines.
